Belgiëplein, Amsterdam

Belgiëplein is the central square and main shopping area of the Nieuw Sloten neighborhood in Amsterdam Nieuw-West. Named after the country of Belgium, with surrounding streets also named after Belgian cities, it serves as a community hub. The square is designed to be car-free and is a focal point for shopping, with supermarkets, specialty shops, and a monthly organic market. It is also a key public transport link, with a tram stop for line 2 and several bus stops, ensuring excellent connectivity to the wider city. The area combines urban living with easy access to green spaces,
