Boterdiepstraat, Amsterdam

The Boterdiepstraat is a quiet, highly desirable street in the Rivierenbuurt district of Amsterdam-Zuid, known for its quintessential 1930s Amsterdam School architecture. This residential street offers a peaceful, almost village-like atmosphere, often featuring private gardens with its ground-floor apartments. Its appeal is its blend of tranquility with superb urban convenience: it is steps away from the bustling shops and dining on the Rijnstraat and Maasstraat, and close to major green spaces like the Martin Luther King Park and the Amstel River. Furthermore, its location offers excellent
